Praise Roosevelt
A Bigger Universe
Australia's Plan
The Lash in England

President Roosevelt will be remembered for many things, heaven only knows how many, at the rate he is traveling in unexplored fields, but praised by no one more gratefully than by fifteen thousand American postmasters whose jobs and future he makes secure, putting them under Civil Service rules, no longer to be the playthings of politics. This is all the more praiseworthy since these postmasters are, generally, Republican appointees.

The universe seems to be getting bigger in spite of scientists, led by Einstein, who had made up their minds to limit the performance of the Creator and say to the cosmos:

Little man measures his own field, farm, country and planet and wants to measure everything else. But divine wisdom has made different arrangements.

Mount Wilson's 100-inch telescope discovers new nebulae, or "universes," 300,000,000 light years distant from the earth. For your amusement, figure out how far that is, the distance that light, going 186,000 miles per second, could travel in 300,000,000 years.

Bertrand Russell says the universe is limited, and light could travel around it "in a few hundred million years.

If the new nebulae 300,000,000 light years on one side of us are balanced by other universes as far on the other side, the diameter of that new 'cosmos" would be 600,000,000 years and its circumference the distance around it, 1,800,000,000 light years. A simple-hearted cowboy that lassoed a locomotive, never having seen one, was no more simple-hearted than the scientist that would lasso the infinite.

Australia, after keeping out all but white population, and failing to get enough whites to make the country safe, adops this plan.

She will let British capitalists lease, for 100 years, some 500,000 square miles in the wilds of Northern Australia.

Tens of thousands of Aborigines will not like it, but they will be protected.

Gigantic Australia, with only 4,120,000 population, has for neighbors, just beyond the horizon, the islands of Japan, with their sixty millions, and earth's most rapidly growing population. The increase was more than 1,000,000 last year.

Enterprising Americans may be interested to know that there are diamonds in Australia of better quality than the African diamonds, equal in color, brilliancy and hardness to the diamonds of Brazil. It might be worth while to go and look for them, perhaps find the bed from which those discovered have been dislodged. Much of Australia never has been explored.

When the British dislike anything they try to get rid of it. Two young Britishers, first of the kind in that country, confessed to robbery with sawed-off shotguns. Importation of the American idea displeased the British judges.

They sentenced the young men to long terms in prison, but first each young gentleman was lashed with the cat-o-nine-tails. When the lashings were over, both were understood to remark that they would do no more robbing with sawed-off shotguns. The cat-o-nine-tails destroyed the glamor of crime.

In this country, when we don't like anything, we talk about it.

In San Francisco, citizens formed a vigilance committee, after a crime wave long ago, hung a few criminals to conspicuous lamp posts where others could see them. The others left town. Hanging seems to be the American remedy, and it might come back on a considerable scale, if the country should tire of the kidnaping industry.

Every possible misfortune appears to attack the unfortunate Chinese. Now a frightful plague of rats sweeps the southern part of the Province of Anhwei, in East Central China.

The rats have polluted the water supply and threaten famine, while natives appeal for outside help, unable to fight the swarms of vermin.

Even this government might be interested, for a rat plague means other plagues such as Asiatic cholera, and such things sometimes travel far, and rapidly.

It is reported from Tokio that Japanese newspapers are disturbed by United States plans for building up the navy.

The newspaper Hochi says:

"If Americans fear aggression by Japan, they are mistaken, because America's aerial superiority is so great that a country with an inferior fleet like Japan could not venture across the Pacific."

This country can and does assert that there is no more idea here of aggression against Japan than of an attack on the planet Mars, Jupiter or Venus.

We do not want any war, do not expect any, do not intend to have any, and for that reason we want adequate defense.

Parks Car On Walk; Fined Two Dollars

A. M. Simmons of San Jose parked his car on the sidewalk between Eighth and Ninth on San Carlos over night and was given a ticket to appear before Judge Wood. He paid a $2.00 fine.

Mr. Simmons, it appeared, left room for pedestrians to pass, but to do so they had to walk into the street.

Penha Piano Quartet Gives Next Concert

With Nathan Abas as guest violinist, the fourth concert of the summer series of the Carmel Music society will be heard at Sunset School auditorium next Tuesday night.

Seldom does one have the opportunity that Carmel folk have had this summer of hearing so many great artists. To hear a quartet comprising such noted musicians as Penha, Abas, Linsley and Weiss is an opportunity not to be neglected.

Nathan Abas, born in Holland, studied as a young man under the famous Franz Kneisel. He later became leader of the People's String Quartet in New York City; was a teacher in the New York Institute of Musical Art and made a name for himself so that when he came west he had already acquired the reputation as a great musician and an authority on chamber music. Everywhere he goes he is praised for his simplicity and his interpretation. In the open concerts here, Carmel has adopted him as her very own and he has indeed become a part of "our own quartet."

For the past year Mr. Abas has been the concert master of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra. Of course everyone knows his radio work and his String Quartet has become a household phrase.

Penha, Weiss and Linsley you have known for a longer time. With these three and Nathan Abas we are promised an evening of music that will delight the soul.

The program for next Tuesday night will include: Beethoven's Piano Quartet, Opus 16; Jirak, Opus 28, a trio of violin, viola, and 'cello; Faure's Piano Quartet, Opus 15.

You will have one more opportunity to hear these artists in open rehearsal at the Denny-Watrous gallery when they play next Monday night in their last practicing before the concert Tuesday night.

Merchant Of Venice At Forest Theater

You are planning of course to see the "Merchant of Venice" at the Forest Theatre either next Friday or Saturday night. You must not miss this classic, for if you know your Merchant of Venice you wouldn't think of missing it, and if you don't know it this will be a fine opportunity to learn it. You'll meet many a quotation which is an old friend, and if you are of the latter class you will perhaps be surprised to find where your favorite quotation originated.

Shylock has become a real character. His demand of a pound of flesh has caused the name "Shylock" to be applied to those who drive a hard bargain.

When Shakespeare wrote his play there existed everywhere a scorn and repugnance for the Jew. A good Christian considered it a right to call him a dog and to spit upon him.

George Marion is expected to give a great interpretation of Shylock in the play this week-end, and he has an excelent supporting cast. The performance begins at 8:30. Don't miss the chance to see Merchant of Venice in this delightful setting.

Mrs. M. L. Dunmage and Mrs. Mary A. Goold have returned home from a week's visit in San Jose.

Carmel Sun can use another subscription solicitor. Call at office Friday or Saturday morning.

Truck Driver Held For Phoney License

Frank Reas, local truck owner, has decided that there is such a thing as false economy, especially when it comes to beating the State out of a lawful fee.

Reas, struck with a bright idea, remodled his 1932 license plates, and proudly drove about, the richer for having saved his fee. All went well until Leo Ramsey, State Highway Patrolman, noticed an artistic error in the shaping of the last numeral.

Reas pleaded guilty to operating a truck without a proper license, and his bright idea cost him just $25 in Judge Ray Baugh's court.

Bridge Tournament to Start Saturday

The Peninsula-wide Contract Bridge Tournament for the individual bridge championship of the Peninsula will play its qualifying round this Saturday night. Under the direction of George St. Claire Gooden, well known bridge authority who has conducted a bridge club in Carmel for the past three summers, the tournament will attempt to do more than merely to place the winners and highest ranking players; there will be a complete rating of comparative scores, so that every entrant who wishes and requests it, may find out how he ranks among bridge players from all over the Peninsula.

The tournament, which is not a team affair, but is an individual tournament in which each player will be paired with every other player in his selection, is intended to give everyone an equal chance; it is a test of the versatility of the players, of their ability to play in all kinds of situations. Individual tournaments have attained great popularity and success, during this past year, in both San Francisco and Los Angeles, and it is hoped that local bridge enthusiasts may enjoy the same thrilling play and splendid practice that has won popularity for individual tournaments else-

Just Anything

By Just Anybody

Unquestionably the youth of Carmel is immersed in the arts. We were not surprised to see, at the open rehearsal of the orchestra Sunday evening, a tiny tot performing exquisitely with wonderful finger and lung work on a searchlight. The intent and rapt expression on this young artist's face was not outdone by any of the more mature musicians present, and we feel sure that given an oboe, or flute, this youngster would enjoy herself to the utmost. We don't guarantee that her neighbors would equally enjoy themselves.

J. Whistlebottom Whortleberry was arrested Monday by Chief-of-Police Gus Englund on the charge of peddling papers on the streets. It seems that there is a local ordinance prohibiting street sales of magazines, newspappers, etc., which Mr. Shortleberry overlooked. J. Whistlebottom was acquited.

On complaint of neighbors, Richard Roe was taken before the court this week and adjudged insane. It appeared from testimony that Mr. Roe in early youth had developed the habit of stepping on the cracks in the sidewalks. Since coming to Carmel his daily route to and from work took him down Dolores street and up Seventh.

Sch! Teh!

The strains of "Arizon Wranglers," came floating out from the radio of a certain Carmel Art patron who "adores" classical music.

And were her guests surprised when a certain hostess absentmindedly brought in the plates of refreshments and "dealt 'em off the arm."

It seems to us that the poorest way on earth to get business is by knocking a competitor. If you have this habit, try getting business on your own merits.

George E Vining Has Passed Away

All Carmel was saddened Tuesday to learn of the death of Geo. E. Vining, 44, as seven o'clock on Monday evening. Mr. Vining had been ill for the past six weeks, and on Tuesday a blood transfusion was resorted to to save his life but with no success.

Mr. Vining had been a business man of this city for the past six years, operating Vining's Meat Market, but lived with his family at the edge of Pacific Grove.

Surviving relatives include his widow, Mrs. Clarabelle Vining; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Vining, Pacific Grove; three sisters, Mrs. O. L. Minor of Palo Alto, Mrs. P. H. Thompson of San Jose and Mrs. Ernest McAnaney of Pacific Grove; and three brothers, Arch Vining of San Jose, Harold Vining of San Jose and Ronald Vining, Pacific Grove and Monterey.

Funeral services were conducted by Dr. Ernest Bradley of Del Monte chapel and were held at 4 p. m. Wednesday at Freeman's mortaury chapel. Burial was in El Carmelo cemetery, Pacific Grove.

Amaco To Be Given As Next Showing

"Amaco" the latest and most sensational of Martin Flavin's plays will have its first public premiere next Friday, August 4th, when it is staged at the Carmel Community Playhouse under direction of Edward G. Kuster.

This is the first time that Flavin who makes his home in the Carmel Highlands, has authorized a local premiere of one of his plays. Flavin is flying to Carmel from the east especially to be on hand for the opening night.

For the elaborate production, Kuster has assembled one of the finest casts that has ever been gathered together in Carmel, in addition to a group of professional actors who have been brought from San Francisco and Hollywood, Kuster has persuaded Lincoln Steffens, James Hopper, Frederick Bechdolt and Robert Welles Ritchie, all nationally known authors, to accept minor roles in the play.

Cars Collide; One Turns Over Twice

Although both cars were damaged when they ran together at Carmelo and Ninth Tuesday morning about nine o'clock, no complaints were made before Police Judge Wood.

Douglas B. Nye, son of the assistant postmaster, was delivering some special mail when he hit the left back fender of the car driven by Fayette Darsey, colored, and turned it over twice.

Nye was accompanied by his grandfather, but no one was injured.

Community Players Give Paris Bound

What happens when the Other Woman or the Other Man enters into a domestic situation? How does the little demon jealousy affect the permanence of a marriage union? It is one of the favorite themes of drama and literature, from Shakespeare to Phillip Barry.

The latter playwright, who has written "The Animal Kingdom," "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," "Holiday," and several other delightful plays within the past decade, gives the eternal triangle a novel twist in "Paris Bound," the July offering of the Carmel Community Players playing Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

At the open rehearsal held several nights ago the excellent cast gave a splendid performance in the Green Room, although unaided by "props" scenery or proper "atmosphere." Written publicity can not hope to compete with the sort of enthusiastic advertising which let loose that night, the sort of heralding that every director wants to have and which Byron Foulger deserves in full measure. The forty or fifty people who sat absorbed through the entire performance surely must have left the playhouse carrying with them a very effective line of "sales talk."

There are no stars in this cast, for the simple reason that each part is almost equally rich and satisfying in both character and interpretation. Jim and Mary Hutton, the young couple who

ROBERT MONTGOMERY and ANN HARDING in "WHEN LADIES MEET"

By Dorris Clay

With Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery billed as co-stars and the supporting cast boasting such names as Myrna Loy, Alice Brady and Frank Morgan, "When Ladies Meet" bids fair to be one of the best acted pictures of the year.

Indeed, the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, which is opening at the Carmel theater, is easily among the smartest and most entertaining features the screen has enjoyed in many a month, falling into the delightful category of high comedy and sophistication and yet retaining the humor and simplicity of less pretentious and lower brow entertainment.

This picture is a swift and pictorially perfect adaptation of the Rachel Crothers stage success. In it the performances add a zest to the brittle dialogue and hilarious situations upon which the unique plot relies.

Miss Harding, as the understanding, modern wife of a philandering husband, gives a portrayal at once reminiscent of her "Holiday." Montgomery is his usual self as the young newspaperman who handles his romantic troubles as he would a front page story. His flair for flip lines is deftly appeased by the crackling dialogue given him. Myrna Loy is grand in her part as the girl novelist who tries to live the life of her own heroine. It's a far cry back to the exotic types she used to do and this new portrayal advances her miles ahead of her own achievements in character parts.

The story is the triangular formula attacked from an entirely different angle. It concerns a youthful romance that threatens to go on the rocks because of the interest in the girl of her married publisher. The young man in the case is Montgomery who engineers a meeting of the two women involved under circumstances that create satisfactory if turbulent results.

"When Ladies Meet" has just finished a very successful run at the Golden State in Monterey and is opening here Friday July 28 and being shown for the last time, Saturday, July 29 with a special matinee on Saturday at 2:00.

Horse Commits Suicide In Leap From Cliff

With one mad dash over the edge of a cliff at Jack's Peak, a horse which was being ridden by Jo Mora committed suicide. Mora, with a companion, was riding along, when his horse, rearing suddenly, threw him into the path of his companion's mount. His animal dashed out of sight, and when the pair came up to the edge of the cliff, they saw his lifeless body at the foot of it.

Mora has no explanation to offer for the animal's queer desire to free himself from earthly schackles, but feels that it was most inconsiderate, to say the least, for the animal to wait until they were so far from home, and to ruin a perfectly good saddle.

Monterey Peninsula Orchestra Splendid

The Third concert of the summer series of the Carmel Music Society, held Tuesday evening in Sunset Auditorium, was perfect in every detail.

The attendance was all that could be desired and the program itself was unbelievably fine.

Many who were present had heard the orchestra progress from faltering first rehearsals to the ultimate perfection, can understand that they reached such perfection in such remarkably short time due to the excellent training under the gifted Michel Penha.

Little Miriam Soloveff received encore after encore after her marvelous violin performance, and Miss Winifred Howe was greeted with wild enthusiasm in appreciation of her ability as a pianist.

Each member of the orchestra is to be congratulated. All have been faithful in their attendance at rehearsals and in their attention to details.

They will play again, and if there are any who didn't attend opportunity to do so August 22.

And for real enjoyment, be sure to attend open rehearsals and see behind the scenes the making of a great performance.

CALIFORNIA NEWS REVIEW

Hamilton A. Bauer, former San Francisco attorney and Socialist candidate for Lieutenant-Governor of California, has been committed to the State Hospital at Agnews on the complaint of his sister, Miss Hambia Bauer.

The Assembly agreed with Governor Rolph that charging fees for civil service examination would be "selling lottery tickets on State jobs." The Assembly upheld the Governor's veto of a bill by George Bowers of San Diego, which would have instituted a system of fees for examinations.

Changes voted in the city charter of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley at the June 27 election were ratified by the Assembly of the Legislature. Resolutions for the ratifications were introduced by Charles W. Fisher of Oakland and William F. Knowland of Alameda and Albert H. Morgan Jr., of Albany.

The San Quentin Bulletin turned to statistics long enough to report one prisoner had kept track of all the food he had eaten during fifteen years as an inmate. His record shows 2,157 hamburger balls, 32,350 slices of bread, 4,957 cups of tea, 9,950 cups of coffee and 270,000 beans, the latter item averaging fifty beans a day.

R. C. Ward of Sanger is heading the Fourteenth American Legion District, succeeding Claude L. Kamp of Coalinga, retiring president, following an annual session of district Legionnaires at Sanger. C. J. Anderson, Fresno, was elected first vice-commander and H. M. Phillips of Corcoran, second vice-commander. Sixty-eight Legionnaires and forty members of Legion auxiliaries attended.

Thirteen hundred and fifty carloads of peas, the largest crop movement in the history of Alameda county, were shipped to Eastern markets this season from the Central California Pea Growers' Association and the Farm Products Company. Manager Henry Jorgensen of the association reported he had shipped 347 carloads, as compared with 226 last year. The Farm Products Company handled more than 1,000 carloads.

One hundred and thirty-five orphans of World War victims are to be aided in their education during the next year under plans being shaped by Miss Margaret Anderson, in charge of this work in the state veterans welfare board. The state has made a $25,00 appropriation to continue this service. Last year there were 120 boys and girls between 16 and 21 years of age who were helped on the way to independence through the state's assistance.

California Toll Bridge Authority was recently given immediate possession of East Bay property owned by the Key System, Ltd., and the city of Oakland and other interests by a court order issued by Superior Judge Wood. The State body was directed to deposit a check for $6214.15 with the County Clerk of Alameda county in payment therefor, pending the settlement of two friendly suits to quiet title.

Prices of California wines, of which 23,000,000 gallons are stored in bonded warehouses, have nearly doubled in the past few weeks, E. E. Sheehan, director of the Grape Growers League of California, so declared at San Francisco. Sheehan said the prospect of repeal of the eighteenth amendment and eastern capital seeking investments in vineyards and wineries were responsible. "Claret that we shipped in the Spring for 25 cents a gallon," he said, "is now hard to get at 45 cents. Sweet wines that sold for 50 cents now bring an average of 90 cents.

Gov. Rolph can claim the clemency championship of California, with a total of 604 separate clemency acts to his credit since he took office in 1931. No other Governor ever came close to that mark. The record reveals he has granted ninety-four pardons for crimes other than those involving liquor charges, commuted forty other sentences, issued seventy-eight reprieves to condemned men and swelled the total to a new high with 392 pardons to violators of the Wright Act and Jones still bill. And he has more than 900 applications still pending.

Stanford University, former President Hoover's home, comes in for $1300 for a governmental project under the Roosevelt business revival plan of public works expenditures, according to reports from Washington, D. C. The United State Department of Agriculture has maintained an experiment station at Stanford University for some years, and under the list of items issued to be carried on by the Bureau of Plant Industry of the Agriculture Department is $1300 for a laboratory building at Stanford.

By the action of the Assembly Governor Rolph's veto was sustained on the proposed law which would have placed the marking of State highways under the Public Works Department at the expense of the taxpayers. The proposal sought to take from the California State Automobile Association and the Automobile Club of Southern California the arrangements now in effect by which those organizations have carried out an orderly marking of the roads of California, both State and county.

Is the new crop of oranges now on the tree the lightest since 1917 or is there more fruit than some of the experts think? Horticultural experts insist that Redlands does not have more than a 50 per cent crop or in the neighborhood of 2,700 cars to be shipped next year. Some expert growers, however, do not agree with them and while they admit the crop will be light they insist it will be close to 65 per cent. "I'm inclined to think the navel crop will not be more than 45 per cent and the Valencia crop perhaps only 40 per cen of a normal crop of say 5300 cars," he said.

Almond growers of Merced county will organize in order to be able to act as a unit in cooperation with plans of the national agricultural adjustment administration, it was decided at a meeting at Merced, directed by Elmer B. wood of Atwater. The meeting was called by M. J. David, prominent valley almond grower. The growers will organize under plans to be announced by H. R. Tolley, head of the Giannini Foundation of the University of California, who recently was appointed administrator for special crops throughout the country by President Roosevelt.

Formation of a county-wide voluntary curtailment organization of pear growers was launched at a meeting attended by more than 200 growers and fruit shipping officials at Placerville recently. The meeting was called after a conference of local fruit packing houses, and was addressed by James A. Irving, president of the Placerville Fruit Growers, and officials of Gerrad Company, Sgobel & Day, the Earl Fruit Company, and other houses operating in the county. The object of the organization, it was pointed out, is to bring about a voluntary agreement among growers to curtail shipments of pears next Fall, when, as and such action is needed to prevent congestion of the eastern markets and to build up the prices which may be received.

In order to keep "Kern county money in Kern county" and better meet the needs of students, a plan is being pushed to make the Randsburg section a part of the Tehachapi High School district. Lancaster promised to keep up the branch here if the grammar school trustees would continue providing the location free of rent, and also run a bus for those who preferred to attend the high school in Lancaster. But the rooms in the local grammar school are needed, and economy is urgent. Under the new plan a bus would take seventy-five pupils to Tehachapi through Mojave, from which place the distances to Lancaster and Tehachapi are about the same. The latter high school is already crowded, and it is proposed to build more rooms with the aid of a Federal government loan, or with a bond issue.

The Navy Department has decided to place 17 boats in the destroyer rotation unit at Mare Island this summer. Besides the boats already assigned to the rotation units four more will join the flotilla in August and another four will be tied up at the causeway piers in September. The yard officers are doing their utmost to secure available space for all of the warships and auxiliaries to come here this year, and are now working shifts on the new 100-foot seawall to have that quay ready in the fall.

NEWS NOTES of Carmel Valley, Pebble Beach and the Highlands

Carmel Valley

Things socially in the Valley were quiet this week as almost everybody went to the Rodeo at Salinas. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Vasques and family also Mrs. Vasques' mother, Mrs. Daisy Green, all went. Mrs. Green remained in Salinas for a few days then spent some time in Santa Cruz, her old home. She will return shortly to the valley.

Mary Elizabeth Stewart, Edith Mason and Frederick Hasty of Pacific Grove all rode in the Salinas Rodeo. Later in the day they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stewart. All returned to the Valley together.

The road to the Clubhouse in Robles Del Rio has been resurfaced, making driving there a delight.

When we think of the days when the Carmel Mission was flourishing it seems such a long time ago, and yet even now we have people living in and about Carmel Valley who have had contacts with those days. Not direct, to be sure, but still, faint as they are, making those days of romance closer and more real to us. For instance, Andrew Stewart, when he was a boy six years of age, saw and talked to an old Indian woman who had lived and worked in the mission. When she died she was buried at the very threshold of the mission.

All of that land, extending to where the Carmel station of the Carnegie Institute now stands, at Twelfth and Junipero streets was at one time the Martin ranch. The Martins came across the plains in 1856 and established themselves here in the Valley. The house where Mrs. Vanderbilt Church Phelps now lives is the old ranch house. Mr. Stewart is a stepson of the Martin clan.

He has several relics of the Mission, among them is some carved stone taken from the foundation of the first Mission building. Also some ore from the Lost Indian mine.

If only these people of Carmel Valley were not so modest one could tell of many more interesting things about them. There is one who refusees to nave her name divulged, who is devoting her time to the study of geology. She has many intriguing specimens of rocks from all over California.

At the Scarlett ranch a fish pond, is being constructed that is to be lined with many unusual kinds of rock and quartz.

Jack Martin returned from a trip to Honolulu, on board the battleship U. S. S. Arkansas. He was gone for just one month, leaving San Francisco bay June 18th, and returning by way of Seattle. He came close to having an accident on the way up to San Francisco as the train left the tracks. However, no one was injured and it caused only a short delay. On board they had a daily routine of gun drill, rowing practice, lectures, etc. For recreation they had movies, swimming and boxing bouts. On Sundays church services were held. On shore leave he had an opportunity to see many strange sights and visited an active volcano. He made intimate acquaintance with cocoanuts, rose and mountain apples, and native cherries, tried surfing and danced at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel. This trip was made in conjunction with the University of California, Washington University and Northwestern University of Chicago. Jack being a student at U .C.

There will be a special meeting of the Home Department of the Farm Beauru at the home of Mrs. Schulte in Carmel Valley to plan for the monthly luncheon at Salinas. This is a confederation luncheon and the different farm bureaus are responsible for one each month. As there are about 15 centers connected with the federation it is not quite once a year that the Carmel Valley center has prepared one.

The next regular meeting will be at Mrs. Andrew Stewart's home. The subject that day will be "Pickling" and doubtless some delicious concoctions will be prepared. Miss Olsen, home demonstration agent of the Department of Agriculture of the U. C. is in charge of the work here. The month of July has been holiday for all branches of the farm bureau. Not even the 4-H club holding a meeting during that month.

Miss Nancy Kynaston is the guest of Miss Francis Taylor at Miss Taylor's cottage on Robles del kio.

Another visit from the stork has been announced. Mrs. Fred Nason has a little baby girl. Mrs. Nason has returned from the hospital and both mother and child are doing well.

Mrs. E. G. Pinkham, who recently underwent an operation in Kansas City, has so far recovered as to be able to return home and is expected some time this week.

Mrs. Ballam, of Ballam's Antique Shop, and her son Frank are spending the summer at Camp Steffani. Little Frank, who was so ill this spring is greatly improved since his sojourn in the Valley.

Lest anyone doubt the efficacy of the wishing well at the Fry Home in Robles del Rio listen to this:

"Aunty," she said "I would like to make a wish but I have no coin."

"All right, child, I'll let you have one," answered Mrs. Fry.

Gravely she took the coin and after making her wish returned home. Nothing was seen of her for some little time but at length she came for another visit. She hovered absorbedly over the well but had nothing to say. After a while Mrs. Fry offered another coin, asking at the same time if the first wish had come true.

"Umhum, that's why I want to wish again," she was told.

"What did you wish last time," the lady queried.

"I wished I would not have to go to school the next day and I was home sick in bed for four days."

That is real efficiency.

Peninsula News

The arrest recently of Grover Hurt, prominent Salinas business man, and H. C. Buck of San Francisco, former heads of the Salinas Finance and Investment corporation on charges of grand theft and violation of the corporate securities act, was revealed last week.

The complaint was sworn to by Clarenden Foster jr. of Monterey, and issued by Deputy District Attorney John Thompson, before Justice of the Peace Ray Baugh. A. E. Warth, attorney for the defendents, posted $500 bail for each.

Many Peninsula residents had large sums in the Investment Corporation, which ceased operations approximately a year ago.

Pacific Grove's new business license ordinance was passed last week, providing a uniform schedule of license fees, and clearing up a number of old ordinances which had been causing much confusion.

According to announcement made by Mayor J. L. Steward of Monterey, a band of 85 pieces, composed of members of the 11th Cavalry band, the C. M. T. C. band and the V. F. W. band will present a musical program in the plaza from 2:30 to 4:00 on Sunday afternoon, July 30.

Calling for a 14 per cent increase in the tax rate, but with no actual increase in the tax total, the new city budget for Pacific Grove was adopted by the council last week.

A reduction of 18 cents in the tax rate for the Monterey Union High School district was announced last week by J. R. McKillop, district superintendent.

The rate will be lowered from last year's 63 cents, to forty-five The slash in teachers' salaries has effected a large saving, and provisions have been made only for necessary improvements.

MRS. MACHADO'S SPANISH KITCHEN IS FAMOUS

Satisfying a long felt desire, the editor last week dropped in to the little shop across the street from the old Custom House in Monterey which carries the sign "Mrs. Machado's Spanish Food."

Such perfect tamales! Hot both with seasonings and from the fire. Enchiladas that are as perfect as they can be and more delicious than the editor thought possible.

It was really not a discovery it was found after talking to Mrs. Machado, as she has people sent to her from everywhere by her enthusiastic customers.

Mrs. Machado, descendent of the Duarte family, prominent in old Monterey history, makes all of her food herself, and has on display and for sale in her shop the lovliest little trinkets and souvenirs imported from Mexico

Her shop itself is well worth a visit, as it is in the building erected by her family over a hundred years ago.

Mrs. Machado's grandfather was Joaquin de La Torre, sent from Spain to be secretary to the Catholic Missions, and served in this capacity for 28 years.

"AMACO" TO BE PRODUCED AT CARMEL THEATER

Because of the small seating capacity of the Community Playhouse, invitations for the first night are now being sent out to a limited group of peninsula residents. "Amaca," however, will again be repeated on Saturday night, August 5th and on August 10th, 11th and 12th.

So much interest has been created by the announcement of the premiere that dramatic critics from all the San Francisco newspepers will be on hand for the opening night. Following its production in Carmel, the play will be taken East where it will be staged on Broadway.

"Amaco" has been hailed as one of the finest plays of this generation. There are over 25 persons in the cast and it moves at a terrific tempo. All the action of the play takes place in Amaco, the world's largest industrial plant.

If Senator E. H. Tickle gets his way, the state capitol will be moved back to Monterey where it rightfully belongs.

Senator Tickle, it is reported, offered a resolution to the Senate urging the location of the capital in the original city. He gives as his reasons the climate and the fact that it should never have been removed.

No action has been taken on the resolution.

It is probable that the state officers think with longing of the coast when the thermometer climbs to 110.

Bruce Fox, teacher of the short story at Denny-Watrous every week, told his class Monday that the story market is coming back. It has been very difficult to sell stories during the past two years.

P. A. McCreery and Ralston True went up the Big Sur on a fishing trip Tuesday. James Thoburn who drove them up said that vicinity was the loveliest he had ever seen it.

Honorable Airini Vane, artist, who has spent the past six months in Carmel, has returned to her home in England. Mrs. Vane will visit in Canada and the fair in Chicago en route.

His many friends were glad to see Bob Stowell on the streets of Carmel Monday. Bob is still on crutches from his accident when he slipped on the ball field last Spring and broke his leg, but is improving rapidly. He and his wife are now living in Pacific Grove.

EXAMINATION FOR ASSISTANT AND JUNIOR MESSENGERS

The United States civil service commission will accept applications until August 8, 1933, for the positions of assistant and junior messengers in the Departmental Service, Washington, D. C.

The entrance salary for assistant messenger is $1,080 a year, and for junior messenger $600 a year, less a deduction of not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and retirement deduction of 3 1-2 per cent.

As the states of Maryland, Virginia, Iowa, New Hampshire, Vermont, and the District of Columbia have already received appointments in excess of their quotas under the apportionment, residents of these states and the District of Columbia will not be admitted to this examination unless they submit documentary proof that they are entitled to military preference.

Full information may be obtained from Fred J. Mylar, secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office or customhouse in this city.

CARMEL PLAYERS GIVE PARIS BOUND THIS WEEK

Peggy Converse of Palo Alto returns to Carmel to play Nora Farley. Jean Hall, a player in the Portland little theater group, has the role of Fanny Shippan. Byron Foulger assumes the double role of director and player, taking the part of Richard Parish. Byington Ford plays Peter Cope, and Ruth Norris Thompson is cast as Nora Cope, his wife. Tilly Polak has the role of Julie, the maid.

With his usual workmanlike methods, Byron Foulger has cast this play with the most careful eye to suitability of type. The results of many weeks of intelligent and thoughtful rehearsing will be seen in the finished product. When you take a Barry play, swift-paced, clean-cut in dialogue, and match the roles to actors such as Mr. Foulger has assembled—and present it to the sort of audience that Carmel has—then success is assured. If you have any doubts of that, go to Staniford's or the Carmel Drug Store and buy seats for Thursday, Friday or Saturday. The reward will be rich.
